

Edgewater Markets Expands Global Presence with New Personnel

New York, NY – December 2018 – Edgewater Markets, an industry leader in Electronic Foreign Exchange liquidity and distribution to global institutional clients, is pleased to welcome Phil Muldoon and David Fowler in our London office, and Ananda Ariesta and Marvin Ng in our Singapore office. Edgewater continues to expand its global presence and enhance its distribution to its international client base while continuing to innovate by providing bespoke trading solutions and improving access to liquidity and credit.

London Team

Phil Muldoon, Director of Institutional eFX Sales, brings a wealth of experience in the FX markets space spanning over 30 years working for corporate and investment banks. Prior to joining Edgewater, Mr. Muldoon was Global Markets Director – G10 FX & Rates at the National Bank of Abu Dhabi. He was previously at Credit Agricole Corporate & Investment Bank, for over 17 years, as Director on the FX Trading & eFX Risk Management teams, after holding positions at Credit Suisse and Manufacturers Hanover Trust. Phil began his career at National Westminster Bank, having earned his Banking Diploma at Anglia Polytechnic University in Chelmsford, England.

David Fowler, Institutional eFX Sales & Trader, comes to us from Succden Financial Limited where he worked for over 6 years in different capacities, starting in Operations within the eFX brokerage business and then as an eFX Analyst on the eFX sales desk. Mr. Fowler began his career at London Capital Group in Institutional FX. David earned his BA in Economics at the University of Leicester.

Singapore Team

Ananda Ariesta, Director of Institutional eFX Sales, brings tremendous experience and expertise in the eFX space. Prior to joining Edgewater, Mr. Ariesta was an eFX, Treasury & Derivatives Sales & Trader at Bank J. Safra Sarasin. Prior to that, he was eFX, Treasury & Electronic Markets Solutions Sales at BNP Paribas. Ananda began his career at UBS AG Singapore Investment Bank. Ananda earned his B.Sc. in Computer Science at Monash University.

Marvin Ng, Analyst, comes to us from HSBC where he worked in operations within the eFX space. He will report directly to Shilpa Dubey, Head of Singapore. Marvin earned his degree in Engineering Specialization in Automation at Nanyang Polytechnic.

“It’s a pleasure to have individuals of this calibre join Edgewater’s team. The depth of their knowledge and experience will allow us to further build the Edgewater brand and to continue to focus on customer’s FX needs. This is a natural extension for us as it allows us to leverage the tremendous growth and success we have had” said Skovran Schreder, co-founder and CEO of Edgewater Markets. “The execution of Edgewater’s hiring growth strategy is helping to ensure our clients seamless and direct access to FX markets throughout the world – providing our clients with optimal, efficient and low-cost FX electronic execution,” added Alex Scarsini, co-founder and President of the firm.
