IT'S A SYMBIOTIC RELATIONSHIP THAT COMES DOWN TO ONE VERY IMPORTANT FACT: WHEN THEIR CLIENTS SUCCEED, SO DO EDGEWATER MARKETS.

The judging panel was particularly impressed with how Edgewater utilises the latest in technological advances. The Connecticut-based business employs a hybrid technological stack, offering ultra-low latency market access via its data centres located across the world, alongside the globally available Amazon Web Service data centres. The team specialises in utilising specially adapted technology to optimise client trading, reducing transaction costs, market impact and risk, while empowering their clients' franchise to make the very most from their profits. Edgewater's unique partnership arrangements provide clients with access to global liquidity, which includes difficult to access regional and emerging market liquidity providers via their global network and technology stack delivered to onshore market makers. The sole purpose of the firm is to help clients grow and succeed – it's a symbiotic relationship that comes down to one very important fact: when their clients succeed, so do Edgewater Markets.
